

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An apparatus for processing a substrate intermittently transferred includes a transferring unit, including a plurality of rotary rollers for transferring a substrate and also includes at least one removing unit for removing foreign substances present on the curved face of one of the rotary rollers, the rotary roller spaced upstream of a winding unit for winding the substrate..